The decided satisfaction which this book gives in the school room, and its unprecedented success, prove that it is a work of rare merit.
All those who are dissatisfied with the books now in use, are requested to give this an examination.
They will find it the most clear, concise, logical and practical treatise on written Arithmetic extant, following as it does the plan of Colburn's First Lessons—the two make a complete and popular series.

DR. HOBENSACK'S

Worm Syrup and Liver Pills.

PROBABLY one reason why Worm Medicines so frequently fail of any good effect, is the fact that they contain no qualities except as Worm Killers. Consequently in many instances where we mistake the symptoms of disease and doctor for worms, when the cause of disease is not worms, but a derangement of the system and consequent debility and ill health, no good result follows, whereas in the use of Dr. Hobensack's medicines, it being an active remedial agent, as well as worm killer, the patient immediately gets well, though no worms are brought away.

Thus it will be readily seen that it possesses many advantages over other worm medicines, as it is not only sure to kill and bring away the worms, but builds up and restores the patient to general health, besides.

An Exciting Sea Story of the Revolution!

SEAWAIF;

OR, THE

TERROR OF THE COAST.

A TALE OF PRIVATEERING IN 1776.

CHAPTER IV.

When Seawaif left the presence of fair Kate Cringle, he met her father, who accompanied him down to his boat, in vain trying to find out what Kate had wanted him for

The young captain sprung into his boat amid the murmured good wishes of hundreds of citizens who had gathered there to see the privateer go to sea, and in a few moments he was on board of his vessel

With a clear, bugle like voice, which needed no trumpet, the young commander shouted,

'Man the capstan bars, lads, and run the anchor up with a will. Stand by the jib and flying jib halliards—lay the head yards aback!'

His orders were obeyed readily, and in a few moments, the second officer who stood on the forecastle looking over the bows, cried.

'She's broken ground, sir!'

'Very well, sir—run up the jib and flying-jib, and haul the sheets to starboard—man the top-gallant and top sail sheets and halliards! Round with the capstan, men, and run the anchor up to the bows!'

A moment later, and the head sails up, the veering bow of the schooner proved her to be all aweigh, and then came the order.

'Sheet home, and hoist away top sail and top-gallant sails!'

This was done, and as the fore and aft sails, already up, filled, the schooner began to gather headway. Then, as she fell off before the wind, which was fair out of the harbor, her square sails filled, and she shot ahead with increased velocity. The crowd on shore looking with delight upon the splendid vessel, and glad and, too, at the thought of her errand, rent the air with cheers, while Mr Cringle, taking upon himself the part of gunner, fired an impromptu salute from a single gun which was kept upon the wharf to be used as a warning signal if the British approached.

The 'Tyrannic de' replied to this by a salute of seventeen guns—her whole compliment

'That's what I call a darned waste o' powder!' said a pinch-faced, dried up anatomy of a man, whose thread-bare clothes, hit eyes, and long, greedy talons of fingers, spoke the miser out and out

'It isn't your powder, Moses Gibson,' said Mr Cringle, rather sharply. 'It it was, it would be unlikely to be in a vessel destined to fight for liberty!'

'Tush—tush! What is this liberty to us—the war is ruining trade, and soon we'll all be as poor as rats!' said the miser, pettishly.

'It is a pity that such mean cusses as you weren't poor, you're too stingy to live! If you only had your due, you'd get a good ducking in a horse-pond!' cried out Mr Cringle, so angrily and so loudly that his words were heard by the crowd, and probably found echo in their hearts, for they instantly shouted:

'Let's duck the old miser—to the goose-pond with the old tory!'

And seizing the terrified wretch, they dragged him roughly toward a pond of muddy water near the residence of the merchant, and soon would have put their intention into execution, had not Kate Cringle, who saw their actions, stepped out upon the balcony, and cried out, in a clear, musical voice, which reached every ear

'Shame men—shame! to treat an old man so. He is weak and helpless, let him go, and save your strength for a nobler purpose!'

Her timely appeal and her beauty—for in her excitement she really looked handsomer—had the desired effect, and the old miser was released, much to his own gratification, and rather to the disgust and anger of her father, who would have been really glad to have seen old Gibson get a lesson—for he hated him heartily, not only for his lack of patriotism, but for his miserly meanness.

'I'll remember her—I'll remember that girl, bless her!' muttered the old miser, as he hobbled away from the crowd as fast as he could—not stopping until he reached his own residence, which was also a kind of a store-house in which a vast variety of all kinds of truck and trash were stowed—old junk, second hand anchors, sails, cordage, fishing tackle, nets, harpoons, and a thousand other things

CHAPTER V.

Never was a craft in better little trim on deck, below, or aloft, than the Privateer, after Seawaif had got her rigging stretched. Conscious that he was ready to meet any foe of his tonnage and weight of metal, he boldly headed off from the coast for the track of inward-bound vessels from England

One morning soon after, he was at breakfast in his cabin, with the first officer and the doctor—young Morley being in charge on deck

But each of them bounded from the table as they heard the shout 'sail ho!' from the look-out, at the top-gallant cross-trees

'Where away, and what does she look like?' cried young Morley, in reply.

Seawaif and his companions held their breath, and listened for the answer.

'I see three sail, sir, dead ahead; they seem square-rigged, and coming down right before the wind!' was the reply.

'Englishmen, and making for the coast, I'll wager my first prize-money!' said the captain as he hurried on deck.

'John-Bull-Men's, be gar—I shall get my instruments ready for ampu at!' cried the delighted Frenchman.

'So will I!' said Mr Doolittle, as he buckled on his sharp, but short cutlass, and followed his commander on deck.

The breeze was fresh, and the schooner, with only her lower sails and top-sails set, was going off to the eastward on a taut bow-line, her top-gallant and royal yards pointed to the wind, and her larboard tacks aboard. There was quite a heavy sea rolling, and as she pitched into and through it, she threw the snowy foam over her prow almost as high as her fore top.

'See all clear for action, fore and aft—reeve preventer stays and braces—have the spare spars cleared away! Gunners, look to your children; they may have play soon. Boarders and pikemen, see that your tools are in their places!' cried the captain cheerfully, as he came on deck, and then he seized a spy-glass, and scanned the vessels in sight.

'What do you make out, sir, if you please?' asked Mr Doolittle, whose hopes for work and prize-money were now on the rise.

'I see six vessels; but they are yet too far off to make out whether they are armed or not!' was the reply.

'Shall the gunner open the magazine, sir?'

'Yes, after all the galley-fires are put out!'

The men went to their work, and their respective stations quietly, but with a cheerful look, which betokened a perfect confidence in their vessel, and especially in their officers

An hour passed, and the vessels were now hull up ahead, yet Captain Seawaif gave no orders either to alter the course or to shorten sail.

'What about our colors sir?' asked the lieutenant.

'You can run 'em up or have them in their places, ready to pull out when I order, Mr Doolittle,' said the captain, still keeping his glass directed toward the approaching ships

The enemy were now rising fast, not more than four or five miles off, but the merchantmen, obeying signals from the sloop-of-war, which had evidently discovered the nature and character of the schooner, by her rig, hauled on a wind and shortened sail, while the man-of-war held her course under a cloud of canvas

'Take your stations for working ship!' cried Seawaif. The men bounded to the sheets and braces. 'Hard up the helm—ease off the sheets, and round in the weather braces!' cried the captain

'Turn, thunder! you're not going to run from one sloop o'-war, are you, sir?' asked the lieutenant, in surprised wonder

'Get out and run, to escape, we have enough on them to sink them. [illegible] over every quarter, and ask no [illegible] questions Mr Doolittle,' said the captain quietly

'I beg your pardon, sir, a hundred times—I thought you was going to run!' said the now delighted officer, as he hastened to obey the order

'Double each gun with grape and bullets—gunners to your stations!' cried the captain, now, determinedly. 'Men make up your minds when I [illegible] it, but within an hour we'll have [illegible] ... war's all strike her flag or we'll go down with ours flying!' When ere it is taken, the merchantmen will be easy prizes.

Had they not been cautious, the men would have cheered so loudly as to [illegible] heard on board of the sloop-of-war

After the drags were rigged and lowered over the side, held by stout hawsers, and not seen because sunk beneath the waves, the schooner did not go more than three knots, although—under a full spread of canvas—she seemed to be running away from her antagonist, which now could be seen coming up hand over hand, her deck crowded with men, and her ports showing a battery of twenty four guns.

On she came, the red cross of St. George flaunting from her peak, until she was within nearly a mile of the schooner, when she fired a shot from one of her bow guns.

'Show them our colors now, sir!' cried the young captain, while his face flushed with a smile of terrible joy

It was done in an instant, but the vessel's head was not changed, nor a sail trimmed.

Rapidly the Englishman came up, heading a little to leeward, so as to range under her larboard beam

'Crouch well behind the bulwarks, men stand by your lashings, but do not touch a musket or a gun until I order, ... depress your guns so as to rake her between wind and water ... [illegible] ... sheets and braces, and be ready at the word!' ...

[illegible] ... her [illegible] ...

'Haul down your colors, or I'll sink you!' ... the Englishman ... [illegible] ... by hauling ... [illegible]

'I'm just going to strike—[illegible]' ... giving the order to pour a broadside ...

I was a terrible effect ... [illegible] ... whom they supposed to be using ... efforts to escape ... deck on the side ... cut down ... were little injured ... so that she was ... could turn ...

But not a living soul could be seen. A few blackened spars and timbers ...

'Mon Dieu! Mon Dieu ... Not one man to amputate ... [illegible] ... a grimace, as he turned ...

'You may have better luck at that time, doctor,' said Seawaif, as he gave orders to trim sails and run down ... for the transports—having seen the fate of their protector—were now crowding sail and flying, like a flock of frightened sheep, to make good escape from an opponent which had done such fearful damage in so short a time. But the schooner had no lumbering cargo, and was ready ... rate, as occasion required

A singular coincidence connected with the calamity in Macon, in which one of the Marsh children was fatally injured by her dress taking fire, may be worth recording:—

The father cut from a morning paper the account of an actress being badly burnt, from the same cause, and gave the piece to his daughter. About twelve hours subsequent to the reading of this account, the young daughter herself was enveloped in flames by a similar contiguity to the footlights of a theatrical stage; and, like the first, she scarcely lingered twenty-four hours in unmitigated distress before she, too, was called away from all the bright associations of youthful hope and gayety.

THE LIFE OF JAMES SULLIVAN, with Selections from his Writings. By Thomas C. Amory. Boston: Phillips, Sampson & Co. 1859.

In two noble octavo volumes, of over 400 pages each, the above named publishers have given us Mr Amory's graphically written Life of one of the most distinguished lawyers, legislators, jurists and historians of New England, and to whom Maine claims the honor of having given birth. Mr. Sullivan died half a century ago, and it has remained for the present age to produce an adequate biography of the man, and a connected history of his participation in the stirring incidents of revolutionary days, and in the important political movements and excitements which followed the great struggle. This service we believe has been most satisfactorily performed by Mr. Amory. It is an important one for the annals of the country—and the author is entitled to the public gratitude for his laborious and faithful researches. As a contribution to American biography, the Life of James Sullivan is quite as valuable as many of the admirable productions of Mr. Sparks—while to a Massachusetts or a Maine reader it is full of a peculiar interest.

Mr Sullivan was of Irish descent—being derived from the O'Sullivans of the south of Ireland of the sixteenth and earlier centuries. His father, John Sullivan, was born in Limerick, in 1692. His grandfather, Philip O'Sullivan was one of the opponents of William of Orange in the expedition of that Prince to reduce the Catholics of Ireland, who still held out for the cause of the second James. After the surrender of Limerick, he was among those who exiled themselves to France, with Gen. Sarsfield, and soon after died abroad. His son John, the father of the subject of the memoir, returned to Ireland, after completing his education on the continent—and sailed from Limerick in 1723, for America. The vessel was driven by stress of weather into York, in the District of Maine, and John Sullivan by that accident became a settler at Berwick—after having married Margery Brown, a young girl who was fellow passenger with him from Ireland. At Berwick, John Sullivan resided as a farmer for more than sixty years, and until his death in 1795.

James Sullivan was born at Berwick, in 1744—entered the office of his brother John, at Durham, N. H., as a law student, in 1764—and was admitted to the bar soon afterwards, settling first at Georgetown, on Arrowsic island, near the mouth of the Kennebec—the locality near which the earliest settlement in New England,—(that of Popham and Raleigh Gilbert, in 1606-7,) was made. When, at a later period, Sullivan was asked what on earth could have induced him to settle in such an out-of-the-way place, he promptly replied that "wishing to break into the world somewhere, he had concluded to select the weakest point!" He argued many important cases, however, in the venerable old "Pownalborough" Court House, which is still standing in Dresden, on the beautiful banks of the Kennebec.

In 1768, young Sullivan removed to Biddeford, after having been married at Durham to Miss Hetty Odiorne. He was the first regular attorney who settled on the Saco river; and there were then but five other lawyers in the whole District of Maine, viz: William Cushing of Pownalborough, and David Sewall of York, both of whom were subsequently on the bench with Sullivan, Caleb Emery of Kittery, Theophilus Bradbury and David Wyer, of Falmouth (now Portland.)

In 1774, when the revolution was commencing, Mr Sullivan was sent to the General Court then convened at Salem. The subject of the English aggressions was considered, and he was among the most zealous promoters of the project of a General Congress for all the Colonies, to meet at Philadelphia in the following autumn. He was subsequently a member of the Provincial Congress which assembled at Watertown, Mass., in 1775; and was made a Commissioner to examine the military posts on Lake Champlain.

In 1776 Mr Sullivan was appointed to a seat on the Supreme Bench of Massachusetts, before he had completed the 32d year of his age. In 1776, he removed to Boston, Massachusetts—but he was still continued as the delegate of Biddeford and Pepperellborough (now Saco) to the Provincial Assembly. His official salary as Judge being entirely inadequate to his family expenses, he resigned his seat soon after the formation of the State Constitution; and in 1783 he opened a law office in Boston. The next month after resigning his Judgeship he was elected a delegate (with John Lowell) to the Continental Congress at Philadelphia.

After the Peace, Mr. Sullivan was promi-nently known in connection with the great land disputes between Massachusetts and New York, arising from the operations of the New Plymouth and the Virginia Companies—also in the land questions under the immense grants to Mason and Gorges. The author gives very full and interesting accounts of these grants and claims, and the controversies and troubles which arose out of them. In the origination of measures for the formation of the present Constitution and Federal Union of the States, Judge Sullivan was also an active, prominent and influential participator.

In 1780, being then a widower, he married his second wife, who is stated to have been the widow of a purser in the navy, but her name is not given by the author.

In 1790, Judge Sullivan accepted the office of Attorney General of the Commonwealth, which he held and acceptably administered, until 1807, when after a three years contest he was elected Governor of the Commonwealth by the suffrages of the Republican party.

He is known as the author of the most elaborate and authentic early history of Maine, which appeared in 1795, and much of the material for which he gathered during his professional circuits in the District, as Attorney General. To the active zeal of the Massachusetts Historical Society, he contributed an interesting and valuable History of the Penobscot Indians; and his pen was otherwise busy in the department of history, even while he was the most industriously employed in his public duties and professional avocations.

Governor Sullivan died in 1808, while at the chair of the Chief Magistracy. Of the varied and important incidents in his long life we have been able to give in our limited space only a rapid and meagre outline; but imperfect as it is, it may perhaps induce a desire on the part of the reader to peruse the full and interesting records of history, given us by Mr Amory.

The work is for sale in this city by Messrs. Hughes & Co.

It cannot be denied that there is progress in the world. Some of the democratic papers we perceive have at last felt constrained to allow that there may be justice done, even as they understand it, in a Black Republican Legislature. If the House had been democratic, and Mr. Geo. L. Howard of Abbott, had been a democrat instead of a Republican, and claimed the seat of a sitting Republican member, with evidence of informality in the returns of the votes, the partisanship of these organs would very likely have overcome what is now their sense of justice. As the case stands, the democrat gets the seat, in a House which is two thirds Republican. If there was ever a case in which a sitting democrat was ousted by a democratic House, to give place to a political opponent, when there was clear evidence of important informalities against the contestant—we say if there was ever such a case, we do not happen to remember it. Such occurrences were at least exceedingly rare under the ancient regime.

A singular attempt was lately made to poison a family in Milwaukee. A policeman residing in that place found a bottle of wine at his door, with an envelope attached, containing a valentine, and addressed in a feminine handwriting. He tried a little of the wine, and shortly after began to feel an uneasy sensation in his stomach. His suspicions becoming excited, he sent the bottle to a chemist, and found that it contained enough arsenic to kill fifty persons. Had he shared the wine with his family, a dreadful catastrophe would probably have resulted from the draught.

THE MONTHLY LAW REPORTER for February is received. In addition to its usual early reports and notices of recent cases and decisions, it contains a Historical and Statistical Sketch of the St. Louis Law Library. The Reporter is published monthly by Messrs. Crosby, Nichols & Co., Boston, at $3 per annum. It is extremely valuable to all members of the profession and likewise to business men—as it contains authentic notes of the most important legal decisions not only in this country but England, months before they appear in any other way.

A new pass in the Rocky Mountains has been discovered by Capt. Palliser, commander of a British surveying party. It lies near the 51st degree of longitude, between the head of the Kokunkski river—a fork of the southern branch of Saskatchewan—and Bow river.

General Cass is said to grow more and more feeble. His family are greatly distressed by his present condition.

THE EXPANSION AND CONTRACTION OF IRON.—The Victoria Tubular Bridge. A correspondent (of a New York paper we believe) alluding to the statement recently made, that the terrible frost of January had materially injured the bridge, by its effect in twisting and straining the iron, says:

"The tubes obey the laws common to iron in any shape or form, by contracting or expanding, so the gaps may be, one ten-thousandth part of its length, for each fifteen degrees variation, Fahrenheit. Thus, from pier to pier, the Victoria Bridge tubes extend two hundred and sixty feet. It is fixed upon one pier—it is free to move to and fro upon the other pier, upon smooth rollers provided for the purpose of rendering its obedience to these laws easy and uniform. For instance, 260 feet in length at zero gives one third of an inch. In July last, the thermometer indicated a maximum of 128. On the 10th and 11th of January, it marked 37 below zero, making an extreme variation of 165. This would produce a difference of 3 3-4 inches. And this is the exact difference found, by measurement, to have been produced.

NEW DISH. The flesh of the hippopotamus is the latest novelty in the way of Parisian gourmandise. A late writer says of it: "If our English lovers of good eating could but once taste such a steak, they would not rest until they had caused fine, lively hippopotami to be an article of regular importation." Fancy the question at a dinner-table, "Will you thank you, sir, for a slice of rare hippopotami." N. Y. Sunday Times.

Fancy, rather, a waiter at an eating-house calling out, with sovereign contempt of grammatical rules—"One hippopotami—rare!" with "Baked Indian"—hot!" for a second course.

Supreme Judicial Court—Criminal Term.
CUTTING, J., presiding.
WEDNESDAY, Feb. 16.

State vs. Ira S. Runnells, James Jones, Jr., and Patrick Peters. Charged with burglariously entering the store of Benj. Gowen, three miles out of this city, on the 20th of Sept. last.

The detective officers, Messrs. Walker and Bicknell, got the first clue to the perpetrators of the robbery, by being presented with a burglar's "jimmy," a small iron bar, shaped like a crow bar, which was found in a chaise which Runnells had hired at John A. Moore's stable, in this city, and left in the chaise when it was returned, about the time of the burglary.—Runnells' house was searched, and a portion of the goods were found there. Jones boarded with Runnells, and was suspected. Jones was invited into the office of the detectives, when he confessed that Runnells and Peters broke and entered the store, and that he was a little way off, and took the articles and brought them to the city. He had a pair of boots on, which he said came from the store, and Gowen identified them as similar to a lot in his store. The entrance to the store was effected by breaking six panes of glass, and forcing the shutter open, which was on the inside of the window. The "jimmy" fitted the impressions on the window and sash. Jones was indicted as principal and accessory, but the Co. Att'y not prov'd the count as accessory. Defence on the part of Jones, by Mr. Kimball, was that he was only accessory, and therefore not chargeable as principal.

[The jury, after an absence of several hours, reported that they could not agree, and were discharged. We understand that in the case of Jones, they stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction. How they stood as to Runnels we are not informed.]

In the case of State vs Thomas Strange, (reported yesterday) the verdict was guilty of an assault with intent to rob.

State v Patrick Kelley. Charged with breaking and entering store of Theodore Paine.

Mr. Kimball stated to the Court that he was employed by the prisoner to defend, but as other counsel appeared, (on what authority he knew not, except from professional jealousy) he would withdraw.

The prisoner was found by the watchmen in the cellar of Mr. Paine's store, apparently asleep. He had about him some slight articles of property identified by Mr. P. as his. The case was submitted without argument. Verdict Guilty.

Crosby for State. Waterhouse for dft.

State vs Merrill S. Buck. Indictment found at the last term, for larceny of two wolf robes, the property of Caleb Billings. The property was found in possession of one Gray, and traced to Buck. Defence, that he got them of one Nelson.

On trial when Court adjourned.

Mr. Kimball remarked to the Court that he felt justified in filing exceptions, motions, &c., in behalf of criminals, as he had received a note signed by some for the most respectable citizens, containing $100 as a retaining fee for the defence of criminals.

DEATH OF A PENOBSCOT MAN AT FRASER'S RIVER. We learn by a letter just received in town from Fraser's River, that on the 23th of December last, Capt. Stillman Sargent, formerly of Brewer, but for the last eight years engaged in navigation on the Pacific coast, lost his life by a sad accident. While in port, near the mouth of the river, the captain of a vessel lying alongside visited Capt. S on board his own vessel, for the purpose of making arrangements for a New Year's party. At the conclusion of the visit, Capt. S. accompanied his friend, with a lantern, to his own vessel—a plank passing from one to the other—when, in returning, his foot slipped, and he fell overboard—striking the side of the vessel, as it is supposed, in his fall, as he made no outcry, and sank at once. The body was recovered, and interred with Masonic honors. His wife, who was with him, went to San Francisco after the sad accident, and is now supposed to be on her way home. We believe she lived in Bangor before her marriage. The parents of Capt. Sargent still reside in Brewer, and have been thrown into deep affliction by this occurrence. Their son was a man of large heart and excellent capacity, and was highly respected by all who knew him.

DONATION VISIT. The members of the Union St. Methodist Society will pay their pastor (Rev. Mr. Jewell) a donation visit on Friday evening next, at his residence on Union Street.

THE LECTURE THIS EVENING. That the Lecture this evening at Norumbega, in aid of the funds of the Female Orphan Asylum will be very largely attended, we have no doubt. The object is one which is justly approved by every benevolent mind, and which stimulates a desire to aid it in every human heart. In addition to this motive for attendance is the entertainment which has been provided for the occasion. We have no information from the Managers themselves, in regard to the programme, but from what we otherwise hear, we have no doubt it will present very novel and pleasing features, and probably be one of the most attractive entertainments ever offered in Bangor. Some of its features may be seen by the advertisement in this paper.—Among them is the great poem of Mr. Maddocks, of which the author's reading will not be the least remarkable part. If we may be allowed the expression, the poem must be seen as well as heard—for its beauty is largely in the action. This reading is well worth the price of the entertainment.

SCH LAURA FRANCIS, Higgins, from Eastport for Richmond, put into Norfolk on 11th inst., in distress, with loss of bowsprit, jibboom, sails and head gear, having been in contact with some vessel at sea.

THE SEASON. It is generally remarked in this section that a better winter than the present for out-door movements has rarely been known. We have now had, on the Penobscot, three months of uninterrupted good sleighing—not even broken by the inevitable "January thaw." Since the first snow fell, in November, the travelling has been excellent, while the amount of snow has at no time been sufficient to impede to any great degree the operations in the woods. We have not even had a "blocking snow storm," or at least none which has obstructed the roads for more than a day or two. There has been but one where the snow drifted to any considerable degree. The great storm of January 4, which blocked the roads badly in the central and western parts of the State, was much less in amount upon the Penobscot waters. The weather now (Feb. 16) is mild and pleasant for the season; but the sleighing is not yet injured, and we may reasonably look for several weeks more of good travelling before the spring opens.

A KEROSENE OIL COMPANY AT BANGOR.—It will be seen by our Legislative record, that on Tuesday a petition was presented in the House for the incorporation of Wm. Arnold et als, as the Bangor Kerosene Oil Company. There is no reason why the article of coal oil—now so rapidly coming into general use—may not be as advantageously manufactured here as elsewhere, and we hope the enterprise will have abundant success. Manufacturers can make a large profit in the business, if it can be pursued so as to keep clear of the rights of the English patentee. We presume the petitioners understand the subject in all its bearings.

DEDICATION OF "HAMLIN HALL."—Compliment to a Citizen of Bangor.—The Machias Republican says:

On the 26th the citizens of Columbia met in the new hall, built in connection with the Town School House, for the purpose of dedicating it. The hall, built by private enterprise, is well finished and very roomy, which affords the citizens of Columbia a fine chance for holding their social and business meetings, and is also an ornament to the place. On this occasion, there was a Social Tea Party, the proceeds to go for furnishing the Hall.

After supper several songs were sung in fine style, and then a few remarks were made and the Hall dedicated to and named for "HAMLIN" Elijah L., their old townsman, whom they all respect and revere, and who will doubtless feel highly honored by this mark of respect shown him.

ONE OF THE WOMEN OF THE REVOLUTION.—Mrs. Artemissa Packard, who recently died at Canton, in this State, at the age of 93, was the widow of two revolutionary soldiers. So says the obituary.

BIRTHRIGHT BALL. The Portland Rifles are making preparations for a Ball on the night of the 22d.

Capt John Hale, who recently died at Foxcroft, aged 82, was master of a packet, thirty years ago, which ran between Eastport and Portland.

Dry hard wood at Eastport, sells for $3,35 per cord.

M. Andrieu is exhibiting his Panorama at Bath.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS—YORK COUNTY.—J. M. Burbank, Esq., Sheriff of York County has appointed the following Deputies, in addition to those before published: Jeremiah P. Shepleigh, Ellis; Wm G. Sherman, Buxton, L. M. Kimball, Kennebunk.

MOLASSES IMPORTS. The State of Maine has an article on the "Molasses Trade of Portland." The quantity imported in 1858 was nearly 44,000 hogsheads, more than one-fifth the number imported into the United States during the same time, and more than double the quantity imported into that port the previous year.

MARINE MEMORANDA. Brig Sarah Starr, Drinko, from Portland for Havana, 5 days reported, put into Charleston, in distress; had a SSW gale 23d ult, lat. 40, lon. 51, during which lost head of foremast and all attached, with maintopmast and jibboom, and was obliged to throw over the deck load and keep the pumps going all the time to keep the brig afloat, she being badly strained.

HARD TREATMENT FOR A BRAVE ACT.—There was quite an excitement in the neighborhood of the Post Office yesterday afternoon. A man left his horse and pung in front of the office while he went in, during which the horse started. A lad standing by jumped into the wehicle and succeeded in stopping the horse. As he was driving the horse back, the man came out in a rage and seizing the boy, cuffed and abused him shamefully. The bystanders who witnessed the act immediately gathered around and evinced such lawbreaker demonstrations that the fellow jumped into his pung and made off, amid the execrations of the crowd.—Portland Adv.

A SURE CURE FOR A FELON.—When the sore can be relieved and entirely cured by holding the finger or part afflicted in Perry Davis' Pain Killer for half an hour. It has been thoroughly tested, and proves a never failing remedy.

To the Citizens of Bangor.

CITY OF BANGOR, January, 1859.

MR LEWIS WATERMAN, proposes to number the Houses of our city upon a plan which will mainly obviate the necessity of renumbering afterwards, on account of the erection of new buildings, as each street is to be carefully measured, and the numbers to be arranged with reference to such probable new erections. His scheme which recommendations from other cities and towns where he has heretofore performed similar services, which are satisfactory to us. It is hoped that the citizens of Bangor will avail themselves of this opportunity for effecting the proposed improvement, the expense being small.

PERRY DAVIS' Vegetable Pain Killer!

REV. T. ALLEN, writing from Tavoy, Burmah, says—Within the past four years I have used and disposed of above five hundred bottles, but am now out. Please send me a fresh supply (through the Mission Rooms) as soon as you can, say two hundred bottles. I dare not be without it myself, and there are endless calls for it, both by Karens and Burmans. I always take it with me into the jungles, and have frequent occasions to use it both on myself and others.—One night, while sleeping in an open Zayat, I was awoke by a most excruciating pain in my foot. On examination I found I had been bit on by a Centipede. I immediately applied the Pain Killer, and found instant relief. In less than an hour I was again asleep.

Rev H. L. Van Meter, of Bassein, India, writes.—Have let me assure you that we prize your Pain Killer very highly. For the first two or three years of our residence in India we were ignorant of its valuable properties, and did not use it, but now would hardly feel safe without it for a single day. Only a few nights since Mrs. Van Meter was stung by a scorpion, and intense pain was instantaneous throughout the arm, and soon a numbness of the fingers followed. By the continued application of the Pain Killer for an hour or more, and at intervals during the night, the alarming symptoms were subdued, and in the morning only a slight soreness was felt in the finger. I gave it in a severe case of Fever and Ague, according to directions, and it acted like a charm, breaking it up at once. The Karens have great confidence in it.

Mr. W. L. Carpenter writes from Calcutta,—"Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer is a very valuable medicine, and most people here that have used it entertain a high opinion of its worth."

Rumney Dec 4th, 1857

Messrs P. Davis & Son—Gents: We have sold the shipment of Pain Killer per ship Martha, and hope to close that per Squassum in a few days. Neither of the lots are landed yet, but we hope they will be in time for us to forward your account sales and remittance by this mail. Buyers, two of whom would each have taken the whole lot, did not like it as well as I would like it. That is the best comment we can make on your Pain Killer. Send us repeated shipments.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, 13th.

SENATE. Mr Fitch, from the Colonization on Printing, reported a joint resolution providing that after the close of the present session all such public documents as both Houses require shall be printed in one lot, thus saving the expense of two separate jobs. Passed.

Mr Seward's bill of January 13, being additional to the act which prohibits the slave trade, was reported by Mr Bayard from the Judiciary Committee, without amendment and without recommendation.

Mr Seward took occasion to refer to his bill to suppress the slave trade, and explained that although he was desirous of having it acted on immediately, he would have to delay it as he was requested in procuring from New York and elsewhere information to satisfy his mind how it would effect legitimate commerce.

The diplomatic appropriation bill was then taken up.

Mr Clay moved to strike out $75,000 for the expenses of the kidnapped negroes of the brig Echo

Mr Brown supported the motion.

Messrs Seward, Wilson and all the Republican Senators advocated the appropriation.

During the discussion Mr Clay read an article showing that the colony of Liberia is decreasing in population in a ratio that will depopulate it in a hundred years.

Mr Clay's amendment was lost by a vote of 42 to 11

The Cuba bill came up as the special order, and Mr Thompson of Ky addressed the Senate, and an audience of over 2000 persons.

He spoke for two hours in a facetious but somewhat rambling strain, interrupted by constant laughter. He was wholly against the acquisition of Cuba, and was astonished that the Senator from Louisiana was in favor of it.

Mr Thompson had proceeded but a short time when he was obliged to sit and deliver his speech, as he was too weak to stand.

Lord Napier chanced to be seated near him, and was evidently amused by his remarks

The Senate went into Executive session and afterwards adjourned.

HOUSE. The bill increasing the number of surgeons and pursers in the navy was tabled.

Mr Stephens, from the Committee on Territories, reported a bill providing a temporary government for Arizona, and asked for its immediate consideration.

Mr Kellogg moved an amendment providing that when there are 10,000 actual residents in Arizona, the Legislature shall provide by law for the election of Governor and Sec'y of State, the Marshal and Judges to be commissioned by the President.

Mr Stephens contended that his bill was modelled on other Territorial bills, and it was too late now to change our policy.

Mr Grow offered a preamble reciting that as the tract of country embracing Arizona, when acquired from Mexico, was by virtue of law and the constitution of Mexico, free from African slavery, and as no law has since been passed establishing slavery, therefore this act shall not be held as authorising African slavery in that territory, and slavery remains abolished there as at the time of its acquisition

Mr McQueen objected to the amendment.

Mr Edgerton moved to table the whole subject—carried 121 to 78.

Mr Stephens then reported a similar bill for Decotah, which met a like fate.

Mr Stephens also reported a bill for a temporary government for Jefferson, which was likewise tabled

The Agricultural College bill was taken up.

Mr Cobb, of Ga, moved to table the bill—lost, 103 to 95.

The Senate's amendments were concurred in

Adjourned

WASHINGTON, 16th.

The additional article to the extradition treaty between the United States and France is officially promulgated. It extends to persons charged with the following crimes, whether as principles, accessories or accomplices, namely: Forging, or knowingly passing or putting in circulation counterfeit coin or bank notes or other paper currency as money with intent to defraud any person or persons, and embezzlement by any person or persons, hired or salaried, to the detriment of their employers, when their crimes are subject to infamous punishments.

The President on recognition of the satisfactory manner in which John Nugent, Esq., discharged the duties of his special mission to British Columbia and Vancouver's Island, recently tendered him the appointment of Minister to Bogota, which he has declined, intending to take an active part in the politics of California during the summer—his friends having intimated him to it coms a candidate for Governor of that State.

Mr Morrill's bill appropriating about 6,000,000 of acres of land among the several States according to their federal representation for the establishment of agricultural colleges and the promotion of the mechanic arts has been finally disposed of by both houses. Its enemies are congratulating themselves on an anticipated Presidential veto.

The Senate in Executive session to day ratified the Dacotah Indian treaty by which an extensive tract of country is secured to the United States.

The motion which was made at the last session to reconsider the vote by which the treaty with the Senecas at Tonawanda was ratified, having been withdrawn the treaty is now in force

The Senate rejected the nomination of Henry D Potter as Collector of the port of Toledo.

In the House to-day the Republicans generally, with a few Northern Democrats and about twenty five Southerners voted to table the Arizona Territorial bill, but on the similar proposition of the Decotah bill several Republicans changed to the negative, and the affirmative vote embraced forty-five Southerners.

Vice President Breckenridge has sold his house for about $10 000, having, to the regret of his social friends, abandoned the idea of housekeeping in Washington.

THE HAYTIEN REVOLUTION. New York, 15th. Advices from Kingston, Jamaica, of 29th ult., give additional details respecting the revolution in Hayti The Standard contains Soulouque's paper of abdication, and adds that upon his arrival at Kingston the greatest excitement prevailed among the Haytien refugees who had been expatriated by his orders The negro population of Kingston were unanimously in his favor, and rushed in thousands along the streets to get a sight of him. A strong escort of police was found necessary to keep off the crowd

Various Items.

In Dayton, Ohio, a favorite actress announced her benefit and promised to give a new hat to the gentleman who brought the largest number of ladies.

A heavy packer of Cincinnati died suddenly on Saturday. A local paper says: "He was highly esteemed as a man of benevolence and enterprise, and was a good judge of pork!"

A well-dressed woman in Trenton, N. J., was arrested on Thursday for drunkenness and fighting. She blackened the eyes of two men, knocked another flat, and the services of several officers were required to arrest her.

It is stated in Paris that M. Fould, minister of the Emperor's household, had gained upwards of five millions of francs by the recent fall in the price of French funds. M. de Morny is said to have been even more fortunate.

Such is the interest which Queen Victoria takes in public affairs, that the leader of the House of Commons is expected, on every important division, or when any public business of unusual interest is transacted in Parliament, to send a short report of the same to the Queen the same night.

The mother of John G. Saxe, the poet, who resides in Troy, went to Bennington, last week, for the purpose of hearing her son read his poem on "Love." Though he has lectured four hundred and fifty times, this was the first time the old lady ever had an opportunity of hearing him.

Lieut. Hebenstreit, in one of his interesting letters says: "The extreme of Japanese breeding seems to be to remain silently attentive while your company is speaking. The result of this is that arguments and disputes are by no means common, simply because one party always waits quietly until the other has 'had his say.' I wonder if this true politeness couldn't be sent by rail-road from Japan toward the land of the free and the home of the brave!"

ANOTHER SERENADE PARTY. The Worcester Transcript relates that a young lawyer of that city one evening last week called on a young lady to take her to a place of entertainment, when she went up stairs to "fix" for the occasion. Soon hearing footsteps on the stairs, he stepped into the dark entry, and at the coming feet reached the last stair he threw his arms round her waist and placed his lips in dangerous proximity to her cheeks. A push, a slap and a scream frightened him into one corner of the entry, when the advent of the old folks with a lamp enlightened him to the fact that he had been kissing the "black but comely" Dinah, whose descending steps he had mistaken for those of his loved.

A LAUNCH AT CHARLESTOWN.—A "second class sloop-of-war," nominally called a gun boat, but still larger than many sloops of war, was launched from the Charlestown Navy Yard on Tuesday. She is one of seven ordered under a special appropriation of Congress, and designed with especial reference to the navigation of rivers and other shoal waters. She is of 900 tons measurement, but her armament will consist only of three guns—one 11 inch pivot gun, mounted midships, and two 32 lb. medium guns mounted fore and aft.

BE it ordained by the Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council of Bangor, in City Council assembled, as follows.

Sec. 1—That the owners of all stores and houses bordering on the streets, and in close proximity to the sidewalks, in the City of Bangor, the roofs of which have been covered with slate, tin, or zinc, shall within thirty days after notice, put upon said roofs railings or other protections, satisfactory to the Mayor and Aldermen of said City, to prevent the slides of ice and snow from the roofs into the streets, or upon the sidewalks.

Sec. 2—It shall be the duty of the City Marshal to give notice to all owners of such stores and houses to put on the roofs of the same such railings or other guards and protections, as provided above, when directed by the Mayor and Aldermen, if said owners reside in the City, and when no owner resids in the City, or are unknown, such notice shall be given to the agents of the owners, and in case there be no agents then such notice shall be given to the occupants.

Sec. 3—If any owner of a store or house shall refuse, after thirty days notice, as above provided, to place such railing or protection upon the roof as to prevent danger from the fall of ice and snow upon the streets and sidewalks, the Mayor shall direct the same to be done, and the owner or owners of such building shall be liable to repay the City of Bangor all reasonable charges therefor.

Sec. 4—Be it further ordained that all Ordinances or parts of ordinances, inconsistent with this Ordinance are hereby respealed.

LINCOLN'S WATER PROOF BLACKING, AND LEATHER PRESERVATIVE.

Keep your Feet dry, and you will seldom need a Physician

IS it not a truth that when the feet are often wet, it is one of the greatest causes of colds and consumption? It is a truth that when leather is often wet and dried, it soon becomes hard, stiff, and cracks: but when its water proof this is remedied. By the application of the preservative, it remains soft and entirely impervious to water.

After being engaged for 25 years in the manufacture of Leather in all its branches, and being often troubled with wet feet myself, I was led to experimenting on different compositions, and found it easy to make it water-proof, but at the same time extremely injurious to the leather. At last by a chemical process, I discovered a preparation which perfectly harmonizes with the astringent properties with which leather is tanned It will only make leather water-proof, but it likewise softens the leather, and will Positively wear twice as long.

I have now used it for three years, and a large part of that time have worked in a wet Tannery with my boots constantly in water, and have no had my feet wet during that time. I can therefore in all confidence, recommend it to the public as the best article in the market.

American Safety Paper Manufacturing Company of N. Y.

Capital $500,000.

A. NICHOLAS, President. Office, 70 Wall-st.

A Perfect Security against all manner of Fraud or Counterfeiting on Paper—To Prevent Photographs and Anastatic Counterfeits, Erasures, Pressure or Alterations.

HAVING purchased the Patent for the exclusive right to manufacture and sell the Chemical Paper in America, invented and patented in England by HENRY GLYNN a celebrated chemist and officer in the British army, it is hardly necessary to say that the Paper is recommended by Mr Kent, Assayer of the U S. Mint, Mr Lyman of the New York Clearing House, and Meade Brothers, extensive and skilful photographers, 233 Broadway, N. Y. The latter say that no limitation can be made on a check or bank note printed on the Safety Paper. Below is our list of prices:

Bank Checks—35 cts. per lb.
Bank Bills—$18 for 1000 sheets.
Bills of Exchange—$25 for 1000 sheets
Promissory Notes—40 cts. per lb
Sight and Time Drafts—$25 for 1000 sheets
Insurance Policies—40 cts. per lb.
Railroad Stocks and Bonds—40 cts. per lb
Bank and State Stocks—40 cts. per lb.
Bonds and Mortgages—40 cts. per lb.
Wills and Deeds—40 cts. per lb.

For wrapping Silks and other fine articles it is excellent, as it prevents moths. 40 cts. a lb

For Indentures and Agreements, 40 cts a lb.

All State and County Records should always be printed or written on this paper, as the chemicals inserted in the pulp not only prevents erasure or transfer, but makes it lasting as time

For Southern climates it is excellent, and much superior to any other, as the moistness of the climate does not destroy it,—the properties inserted in the pulp being a preventive. In all the Southern States, Cuba, the West Indies, and the Central American States, no public records can be kept over 20 years, written on the ordinary paper, while the oils and other chemicals inserted in this paper makes it indestructible by the ravages of time. It is a perfect guard against moths, rats and other vermin, which feast on and destroy all other paper now in use

The Company have now in operation Mills in Morris County, N J, of about 300 horse power, and are able to fill all orders for Paper at the shortest notice

All orders for the Paper must be addressed to A NICHOLAS, President of the Company, No 70 Wall street, New York

American & Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

70 State St., opposite Kilby St.,

BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not unnecessarily superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The common practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents

All necessity for a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are hereby saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS

"I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr R H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending, each unexceptable paper of great talent and ability, so he just take pleasure to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges JOHN TAGGERT

From Sept. 17 h, 1857, to June 17th, 1858, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on rance rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents
